

not prepared to discuss keywords because the upcoming assignments were not yet introduced to the students. None of the students had topic ideas or even rough ideas. At that point the instructor just told me to give a tour of the databases, which I did.

Based on your experience teaching this session and any assessment of student work you were able to do, what can you change next time to improve how you teach it? Or, what was successful that you want to be sure to do again the next time you teach it?

Ideally, I should be certain there's an actual assignment and give the instructor/professor my expectations for the students.
